

Encouraging end-of-life recycling is the right thing to do

■ To help aluminium remain in the loop and be available for further applications, it is critical to support proper collection, sorting and recycling of used products.

■ The circularity performances of aluminium products are determined to a great extent by end of life recycling rates.